THE GREAT

DIVE OF THE MONTH

BIANCA C, GRENADA. Every inch of this 600-foot-long vessel is encrusted with life. Grouper, mackerel and barracuda prowl her length, and spotted eagle rays often swoop in for a fry. A gleaming white Italian cruise liner, Bianca C was anchored off Grand Anse Beach when she sank in 1961.

The davits on Bianca C are coated with sponges, clams, and whip and black corals.
